

Warriors Win On Foul Shot

An over-enthusiastic crowd of Annandale High School spectators rushing out onto the playing floor before the end of the game, last night cost their team victory as the Wakefield Warriors rallied for their third straight win, 47-46.

With all the drama packed into the final ten seconds of the contest, the Warriors trailed 46-45 just as Jack Hunter was fouled by an Annandale player to set the stage for the free throw lane suspense.

Hunter missed on his first toss, but cut the cords on the next throw to tie up the game at 46-44 as the Annandale rooters showered the court with everything from programs to pop corn.

Three minutes later after the floor had been swept up, the Warriors chose Don Richards to toe the line for the all-important point.

Richards obliged on his first effort as the large Wakefield following stormed onto the floor—only minutes before the scene of a similar demonstration by the unfortunate Annandale hosts.

Annandale had started fast taking leads of 10-8 and 26-16 in the first two periods, but underestimated the Warriors' depth in the second half strategy.

Dick Wickline and Bob Procter had given Annandale its healthy lead with six and 10 points respectively in the first two quarters while the Warriors kept shooting, but to no avail.

In the third period with Annandale flooring substitutes instead of its regulars, Wakefield turned the tide with a Ray Regan and Don Richards bucketing nine of the 11 points scored.

At the same time coach Robbie Robinson's determined quint over-whelmed Annandale in every department including personal fouls. Three players — Henry Mayo, Doc Kugler and Butch Varden — all fouled out of the game in the wild third quarter action.

By this time the Warriors had reduced Annandale's lead from a 10 point halftime advantage to a six-point spread as the final quarter began.

Don Richards and Jack Regan again came to the rescue scoring 14 of the Warriors' 20 points during the stretch drive.

Richards paced the attack with 18 points for the night on five field goals plus eight free throws while Regan netted six from the floor and a singleton from the foul line for his 13 point total.

The Warriors will seek their fourth straight court win next Wednesday, December 22, at 2:30 p.m. against the George Mason Mustangs. A junior varsity tilt between the two schools will open the afternoon's play at one o'clock in the Wakefield gym.
